

Record Keeping & Retention Policy

Person Responsible:	Mr D Hobson (DPO)
Date of Issue:	September 2023
Review Date:	September 2024

The school recognises that by efficiently managing its records, it will be able to comply with its legal and regulatory obligations and to contribute to the effective overall management of the school. Records provide evidence for protecting the legal rights and interests of the school, and provide evidence for demonstrating performance and accountability.

1. Policy Scope

This policy applies to all records created, received or maintained by permanent and temporary staff of the school in the course of carrying out its functions. Also, by any agents, contractors, consultants or third parties acting on behalf of the school. Records are defined as all those documents which facilitate the business carried out by the school and which are thereafter retained (for a set period) to provide evidence of its transactions or activities. These records may be created, received or maintained in hard copy or electronic format e.g. paper documents, scanned documents, e-mails which document business activities and decisions, audio and video recordings, text messages, notes of telephone and Skype conversations, spreadsheets, Word documents, presentations etc.

2. Responsibilities

The governing body of the school has a statutory responsibility to maintain the school records and record keeping systems in accordance with the regulatory environment specific to the school. The responsibility is delegated to the headteacher of the school.

The school's DPO will give guidance on good records management practice and will promote compliance with this policy so that information will be retrieved easily, appropriately and in a timely way. They will also monitor compliance with this policy by surveying at least annually to check if records are stored securely and can be accessed appropriately.

The school will manage and document its records disposal process in line with the Records Retention Schedule included within this policy. This will help to ensure that we can meet Freedom of Information requests and respond to requests to access personal data under data protection legislation (subject access requests "SARS").

Individual staff and employees must ensure, with respect to records for which they are responsible, that they:

- o Manage the school's records consistently in accordance with the school's policies and procedures;
- o Properly document their actions and decisions;
- o Hold personal information securely;
- o Only share personal information appropriately and do not disclose it to any unauthorised third party;
- o Dispose of records securely in accordance with the school's Records Retention Schedule.

3. Benefits of the Record Retention Policy

There are a number of benefits which arise from the use of a complete Retention Policy:

- o Managing records against the Retention Policy is deemed to be "normal processing" under the Data Protection Act 1998, Freedom of Information Act 2000 and the General Data Protection Regulations 2018. Provided members of staff are managing record series using the Retention Policy they cannot be found guilty of unauthorised tampering with files once a freedom of information request or a data subject access request has been made.
- o Members of staff can be confident about destroying information at the appropriate time
- o Information which is subject to Freedom of Information and Data Protection legislation will be available when required.
- o The school is not maintaining and storing information unnecessarily. It is important that all staff bear in mind, when creating documents and records of any sort (and particularly email), that at some point in the future those documents and records could be disclosed - whether as a result of litigation or investigation, or because of a subject access request under the DPA. The watchwords of record-keeping are therefore accuracy, clarity, professionalism and objectivity.

4. Relationship with existing policies

This policy has been drawn up within the context of:

- Data Protection policy
- Acceptable Use Policy
- Photographic and Video Policy
- Confidentiality Policy

5. Pupil Records

School is under a duty to maintain a pupil record for each pupil. The 'Pupil Record' comprising the educational and curricula record, is seen as the core record charting the individual pupil's progress through the education system, and should accompany them throughout their school career. This record will serve as the formal record of their academic achievements, other skills and abilities, and progress in school.

Recording and disclosure of information

Pupil records are held electronically on the MIS system and in CPOMS. School may also keep some records in paper format.

All information must be easy to find, accurately and objectively recorded and expressed in a professional manner as pupils and parents have a right of access to their educational record via two possible routes:

- o A request for an educational record.
The Education (Pupil Information) (England) Regulations 2005, states that the pupil record must be provided to parents within 15 school days of a request where the pupil is enrolled in a maintained school. This provision does not apply to Academies, independent schools etc;
- o Requests for information by pupils, or their parents are to be treated as subject access requests under Data Protection legislation.

Records not forming part of the pupil record

The following record types will be stored separately to the main pupil record, as they are usually subject to shorter retention periods (please see the Retention Schedule section); they will not be forwarded to the pupil's next school:

- Attendance Registers and Information (electronically held on MIS system)
- Absence (authorised) notes and correspondence
- Parental consent forms for trips/outings
- Accident forms (a copy can be placed on the pupil record if it is a major incident)
- Medicine consent and administering records (this is the school's record)
- Copies of birth certificates, passports, etc.
- Generic correspondence with parents about minor issues (i.e. 'Dear Parent')
- Pupil work, drawings, etc.
- Previous data collection forms which have been superseded (there is no need to retain these)
- Photography (image) consents (this is the school's record).

Information stored electronically

Those principles relevant to paper records will apply to those pupil records stored electronically. The school information management system will incorporate features to enable elements of the electronic pupil record to be deleted in accordance with retention schedules, whilst the remainder of the record remains intact.

Storage and Security

All pupil records and associated information will be stored securely to maintain confidentiality whilst keeping information accessible to those authorised to see it. Electronic records will have appropriate security and access controls in place; equally paper records will be kept in lockable storage areas with restricted access. Not everyone in school has a need to access all of the information held about a pupil; this is particularly relevant to child protection information.

Transferring Pupil Records

School will ensure swift transfers of information to the pupil's new school to ensure appropriate decisions can be made regarding a pupil, using relevant and accurate information.

Weeding

The pupil record will not be weeded before transfer, unless any duplicates or records with a short retention period have been included; these can be removed and securely destroyed.

Transfer Process

The following will be transferred to the next school within 15 school days of receipt of confirmation that a pupil is registered at another school:

- Common Transfer File (CTF) from the School Information Management System via the school2school system when used
- Any elements of the Pupil Record, held in any format, not transferred as part of the CTF
- SEN or other support service information, including behaviour, as only limited information may be included in the CTF. This will be included within the CPOMS information transfer
- Child Protection information; this will be sent as soon as possible by the Designated Safeguarding Lead (DSL) or a member of their team to their equivalent at the new school.

School will ensure the information is kept secure and traceable during transfer:

- Records may be delivered or collected in person, with signed confirmation for tracking purposes
- Pupil Records will not be sent by post. If the use of post is absolutely necessary, they will be sent by 'Special Delivery Guaranteed' or via a reputable and secure courier to a pre-informed named contact, along with a list of the enclosed files. The new school should sign a copy of the list to confirm receipt of the files and securely return to our school

If held electronically, records may be sent to a named contact via secure encrypted e-mail, or other secure transfer method.

If the pupil is transferring to an independent school or a post-16 establishment, we will transfer copies of relevant information only and retain the original full record as the last known school.

If a request is received to transfer the Pupil Record or other information about a pupil to a school outside of the European Union (EU), we will contact our Data Protection Officer for further advice.

Retention and Disposal

Retention - Transferring school

Responsibility for maintaining the pupil record passes to the next school. Schools may wish to retain the information about the pupil for a short period to allow for any queries or reports to be completed or where linked records in the school information management system have not yet reached the end of their retention period and deleting would cause problems. In this case, records will not be held any longer than 6 months from the date of transfer.

Certain elements of the record may need to be retained for longer, for example if litigation is pending, or for transfer to the Local Record Office, in accordance with the Retention Schedule.

Limitation periods may be dis-applied altogether by courts in the case of certain crimes or associated breaches of care (e.g. historic abuse), whether a charge is brought by the police or a school is sued under a private claim. It is not always possible to try a case where the evidence is inadequate, including due to a lack of corporate memory (e.g. records and witnesses): but generally the courts and police will expect to see a record, and inferences may be drawn otherwise.

In many cases these records will comprise personal or sensitive personal data (e.g. health or criminal allegations): in which case, even justifiable reasons to keep records for many years will need to be weighed against personal rights. Historical high-profile cases in the field of child protection probably make a cautious approach to record retention advisable and, from a DPA perspective, easier for the School to justify retention for long periods. But the longer data is retained, and the more sensitive material is kept on file, the greater – and potentially more serious – the risk of security breach.

Retention – Last known school

The last known or final school is responsible for retaining the Pupil Record. The school is the final or last known school if:

- A secondary phase and the pupil left at 16 years old or for post-16 or independent education, or;
- It is a school at any point and the pupil left for elective home education, they are missing from education or have left the UK.

The Pupil Record should be retained as a whole for 25 years from the date of birth of the pupil, after which time, if no longer required, it can be deleted or destroyed. SEN and other support service records can be retained for a longer period of 31 years to enable defence in a “failure to provide a sufficient education” case.

If our school wishes to retain data for analysis or statistical purposes, it will be done in an anonymised fashion.

Disposal

Pupil records will contain personal and confidential information and so must be destroyed securely. Electronic copies will be securely deleted and hard copies disposed of as confidential waste.

6. Information Audits

School will undertake and record an annual information audit. The information audit is a record of the following:

- What information is retained
- Why information is retained
- What type of information it is
- How information is processed and shared
- Where information is stored
- What the relevant retention period is
- Who the ‘responsible owners’ or day-to-day users are

The information audit enables the school to continually update our asset register.

7. Disposal of records

Managing Records Retention

The fifth data protection principle states that “Personal data must be kept for no longer than is necessary for the purpose for which it is processed". Therefore, all school records, in all formats, are subject to an applicable retention period, as defined by business, statutory, regulatory, legal or historical requirements.

The schools DPO is designated as our school records manager, with responsibility for ensuring records are retained, reviewed and destroyed in accordance with requirements, and as soon as possible once their lifespan has expired. Reviews will determine whether records are to be selected for permanent preservation, destroyed, digitised to an electronic format or retained for ongoing business or legal purposes.

All records in all formats are assigned a retention period and disposal date, either upon creation or when they cease to be in active use, in accordance with the Retention Policy. A system has been implemented to routinely identify records as soon as they reach their disposal date. This forms part of an electronic record-keeping system or a manual system.

Disposal will be carried out in a timely manner to:

- Ensure compliance with business and legal retention requirements
- Improve the efficiency of the record keeping system
- Free up storage space
- Reduce associated storage and management costs

Destruction will include all backup and duplicate copies, in all formats. This is especially vital for personal information which may be kept in various hybrid record keeping systems.

Principles of Disposal

School has agreed a standard procedure for the safe disposal of records and all staff are reminded of this. If retention periods are not complied with, material will still have to be provided if a Data Subject Access request or Freedom of Information request is received, and could also result in a data breach.

The disposal method must be applicable to the content and format of the information. Paper and electronic records should be disposed of separately, i.e. floppy disks, CDs, DVDs, tapes, USBs, etc. should not be put into confidential waste containers containing paper as they require different disposal methods and could damage shredding equipment.

Destruction must be undertaken in a way that preserves the confidentiality of the information and which makes it permanently unreadable or unable to be reconstructed or re-instated. Special care should be taken when destroying personal, sensitive or commercial information and confidentiality should be paramount at all stages of the process.

Destruction of Records

All hard copies of official records and those containing personal data will be destroyed using confidential methods, rather than being placed in general waste bins or skips, which could result in a data breach. School ensure that information is either shredded using a UK GDPR compliant contractor or, if we shred on site, then a cross cutting shredder is used.. A process is agreed and followed to ensure that information security is maintained at all times.

Disciplinary and Grievance Processes

Note:

The ACAS code of practice on disciplinary and grievance procedures recommends that the employee should be told how long a disciplinary warning will remain current. However, this does not mean that the data itself should be destroyed at the end of the set period.

Any disciplinary proceedings data will be a record of an important event in the course of the employer's relationship with the employee. Should the same employee be accused of similar misconduct five years down the line, and then defend him- or herself by saying "I would never do something like that", reference to the earlier proceedings may show that the comment should not be given credence. Alternatively, if the employee were to be dismissed for some later offence and then claim at tribunal that he or she had "fifteen years of unblemished service", the record of the disciplinary proceedings would be effective evidence to counter this claim.

Employers should, therefore, be careful not to confuse the expiry of a warning for disciplinary purposes with a requirement to destroy all reference to its existence in the personnel file. One danger is that the disciplinary procedure itself often gives the impression that, at the end of the effective period for the warning, the warning will be "removed from the file". This or similar wordings should be changed to make it clear that, while the warning will not remain active in relation to future disciplinary matters, a record of what has occurred will be kept.

	Oral warning		Date of warning + 6 months	SECURE DISPOSAL [If warnings are placed on personal files then they must be weeded from the file]
